

Support the Pitt Rivers Museum

By joining the Friends you will help this remarkable Museum continue to flourish. The Friends have helped to fund projects and acquisitions, and have supported the purchase of display cases and important conservation work. We also help to provide children's education activities and give staff bursaries for travel and research.

“A fantastic opportunity to learn more about my favourite Museum while helping preserve it for future generations.”

Become part of the story

The Pitt Rivers Museum was founded in 1884 when General Pitt-Rivers gave his personal collection of some 26,000 items to the University of Oxford.

Today the collection is famous for its period atmosphere and outstanding collections of more than half a million artefacts from many cultures around the world, past and present.

By becoming a Friend you will help the Museum to care for and grow its unique collections, enhance visitor experience and support the education of future generations.
